Cancellation of 500,000 SDRs at 1:1 ratio to Underlying Shares priced at Rp 7,000 each	<ul> <li>(A) Additional cancellation fee = 500,000 * Rp 7,000 * 0.10% = Rp 3,500,000, subject to minimum of Rp 100,000</li> <li>(B) Sales tax = 500,000 * Rp 7,000 * 0.10% = Rp 3,500,000</li> </ul>	Rp 7,000,000

Incomplete or inaccurate information could result in delays in the processing of your cancellation request.

	(iv) The Depository may stop accepting cancellation requests and deem cancellation requests as having been withdrawn.
	In order to provide the Depository with the flexibility to respond to unforeseen circumstances, the Depository may, in certain situations, stop accepting cancellation requests for SDRs and treat a cancellation request in respect of the SDRs as having been withdrawn.
	The Depository will deem cancellation requests as having been withdrawn if it determines that it is necessary to ensure that a Holder does not:
	<ul> <li>Receive the same right or entitlement in respect of both their SDRs and the Underlying Securities provided on cancellation of their SDRs; and</li> </ul>
	<ul> <li>Lose a right or entitlement in respect of their SDRs as a result of the cancellation of those SDRs, if they would not qualify for the equivalent right or entitlement in respect of the Underlying Securities provided on cancellation of the SDRs.</li> </ul>
	The Depository will also deem cancellation requests as having been withdrawn if it reasonably considers that such action is necessary to ensure compliance with the requirements of any law, government or governmental body, authority or exchange.
	In such circumstances, the Depository will publish any necessary announcements on SGX, summarising the events which have led to the Depository to stop accepting cancellation requests.
	The Depository will use reasonable endeavours to notify you or your authorised broker if your cancellation request has been withdrawn within a reasonable time of the Depository making its decision to withdraw your cancellation request.

Kong stamp duty is presently set at a total rate of 0.2% of the greater of the consideration for, or the value of, stock transferred, with 0.1% payable by each of the buyer and the seller. You may therefore be liable to pay such stamp duty in the event of a deposit of Underlying Shares for issuance of Hong Kong SDR or a surrender/cancellation of Hong Kong SDR and withdrawal of the Underlying Shares when there is a change in beneficial ownership of the Underlying Shares from you to another person and/or vice versa. Such rate of stamp duty may be varied under Hong Kong laws from time to time. You are advised to consult your own tax advisor in respect of your stamp duty obligations.

For Indonesia:

Article 13(5) of the Schedule to The Income Tax (Singapore – Indonesia) (Avoidance of Double Taxation Agreement) Order 2021 of the Singapore Income Tax Act provides that tax is payable in Indonesia on the gains from the alienation of shares in a company listed on the IDX. Currently, the sale of shares on IDX is subject to a tax of 0.1% of the gross transaction amount.

Also, nominal stamp duty applies on a per document basis in Indonesia, and is not related to the value of the transaction. Stamp duty applies on certain documents made, executed or brought into Indonesia or intended to be used as evidence for civil proceedings. Documents subject to stamp duty include notarial deeds, documents evidencing or recording the receipt of money, and securities instruments. The nominal amount of the Indonesian stamp duty for any kind of securities transaction having a value greater than Rp 5,000,000 is Rp 10,000. Generally, the stamp duty is due at the time the document is executed. Stamp duty is payable by the party who benefits from the executed document unless the parties decide otherwise.

You may therefore be liable to pay such taxes and such rate of taxes may be varied under Indonesia laws from time to time. You are advised to consult your own tax advisor in respect of your tax obligations.

In the event of a surrender/cancellation of SDRs and withdrawal of the underlying Shares when there is a change in beneficial ownership of the Shares from you to another person and/or vice versa, sales tax is payable and such tax is included as part of the cancellation fee set out in the "Fees and Expenses" of the SDR Programme Disclosure Document. For the deposit of underlying Shares for issuance of SDRs, sales tax may be payable. You are advised to consult your own broker on any sales tax obligation accordingly.

3. Corporate Actions

3.1 Overview

A corporate action is an event initiated by an Underlying Company that may result in the distribution of cash or securities. Corporate actions include the payment of dividends, bonus issues, stock splits or consolidations, rights issues and takeovers.

The Depository will use reasonable endeavours to pass on the benefits it receives in respect of the Underlying Securities to you. However, your ability to participate in certain corporate actions may be restricted by regulations or conditions imposed by the Underlying Company. If you wish to participate directly in the corporate action of the Underlying Company, you may submit a cancellation request to take delivery of the Underlying Securities to do so, subject to the conditions set out in section 2.10.

The Depository will fix a Record Date to determine which Holders are eligible for the corporate action. If you are a Holder of the SDRs on the Record Date for a Corporate action, you will be entitled to receive distributions or other benefits in respect of the SDRs.

The Record Date set by the Depository for distributions and other benefits will always be earlier than the date those distributions or benefits are paid. For example, if you did not hold an SDR on the relevant Record Date, then you will not be entitled to the corresponding distribution even if you hold that SDR on the date the Depository pays the distribution.

Such Record Date may, or may not, be the same as the record date set by the relevant Underlying Company. The Depository will notify Holders of the Record Date via an announcement on SGX.

3.2 Announcements made by the Depository

The Depository will release an announcement on SGX when certain events (including corporate actions) are announced by an Underlying Company or when certain events occur in respect of the SDRs.

The Depository will make announcements in relation to the events set out below:

- Corporate action (e.g. the payment of a dividend, stock splits, takeovers and rights issues);
- Change of name of the Underlying Company;
- Closure of transfer books for issuance and cancellation of SDRs;
- Removal of quotation of SDRs from SGX-ST; and
- Termination of SDR programme.

3.3 Cash distribution by an Underlying Company

(i) Overview

If you are a Holder of the SDR on the Record Date for a corporate action involving distribution of cash, you will receive a distribution from the Depository through the CDP in Singapore dollars after the payment of the cash distribution by the Underlying Company in a foreign currency.

When a cash distribution is made by an Underlying Company in relation to the Underlying Security:

- the cash distribution will be received by the Depository in a foreign currency;
- the corporate action fee and taxes, if applicable, will be deducted from the cash distribution;
- the remaining amount will be converted from the foreign currency to Singapore dollars at the Prevailing FX Rate as determined by the Depository;

- barring unforeseen circumstances, the Depository will use reasonable endeavours to perform conversion within 3 Business Days of receiving the cash distribution; and
- the Singapore dollar amount will be paid into your Singapore bank account maintained with the CDP.

Payment date for cash distributions relating to the SDRs will occur later than the payment date set by the Underlying Company. The Depository shall endeavour to make the Singapore dollar distributions within 5 Business Days of receiving the cash distribution in the Underlying Market.

(ii) Rounding of payments

The Depository will pay distributions in Singapore dollar amounts rounded to the nearest cent.

Cash distributions payable to you may include fractions of a cent due to the number of SDRs you hold on the Record Date, the amount of distribution made by the Underlying Company, applicable fees and taxes or foreign exchange conversions. Only whole cents will be paid to you and remaining fractions will be retained by the Depository.

(iii) Deduction of fees, taxes and any other amounts owed to the Depository

By holding the SDRs, you agree for the Depository to:

- deduct any amount to be paid to, or received from you:
  - o any withholding tax;
  - o any corporate action fees payable by you to the Depository; and
- offset against any amount to be paid to you which is owed by you to the Depository which the Depository is required or authorised to deduct by law or which the Depository considers should be deducted (including any amounts that are payable by you to the Depository).

(iv) Corporate action fee for cash distributions

The Depository charges fees to process corporate actions. Details of the fees are as follows:

Fee Amount

Corporate action fee –	Up to 1% on gross cash distribution amount cash distributions arising

The following examples illustrates the computation of the Singapore dollar distribution you will receive after an Underlying Company makes a cash distribution.

3.4 Non-Cash distribution by an Underlying Company

(i) Overview

A Corporate action may involve distribution of securities by the Underlying Company to shareholders. If such a corporate action occurs, the Depository will use reasonable endeavours to pass on the benefits of the corporate action to Holders. The Depository may handle the securities distribution in the non-exhaustive examples outlined in the table below.

Option	Key information	What SDR Holder will receive
Option 1  Distribute additional SDRs of the same Underlying Securities to you, for example, if the Underlying Company issues bonus shares	If the securities received by the Depository are the same as its Underlying Securities, new SDRs may be issued to you. Those SDRs will be the same as the SDRs you already hold.  The Depository will retain the new securities on your behalf and those securities will become the Underlying Securities for the new SDRs issued to you.	Additional SDRs corresponding to the Underlying Securities received by the Depository
Option 2	If the securities received by the Depository are different from the	Additional SDRs corresponding to the

The Depository will retain the new securities on your behalf and those securities will become the Underlying Securities for the new	securities received by the Depository
Option 3  Sell the securities and distribute cash to you	If the Depository is unable to issue new SDRs on those securities, it will use reasonable endeavours to sell the securities.  If the securities are sold, the corporate action fee and any applicable taxes will be deducted from the sale proceeds. The remaining sale proceeds will be converted at the Prevailing FX Rate and paid to you in Singapore dollars.  There is no guarantee that the Depository will be able to sell the securities at the market price or at all.  It is also possible that the securities received by the Depository are non-renounceable, meaning that they are not transferable and cannot be sold. In such cases, you will not receive any value on the distribution.	Cash distribution in Singapore dollars

Option 4

If the securities are rights, exercise the rights in accordance with your instructions, for example, if the Underlying Company does a rights issue

If the securities are rights, and the Depository decides not to sell the rights, it will endeavour to accept instructions from you to exercise those rights.

The Depository will only allow you to provide instructions if it determines that it is lawful and practical to do so.

If you choose not to exercise your rights or the Depository allows the rights to lapse, you may not receive any value for those rights, and the Depository will have no obligations to you in respect of those rights.

Additional SDRs arising from the exercise of rights

(ii) Share consolidation or subdivision by an Underlying Company

If the Underlying Securities to which the SDRs relate are consolidated or sub-divided, the Depository will use its reasonable endeavours to consolidate or sub-divide all the SDRs in the same ratio.

SDRs will be rounded down so that each SDR continues to represent a whole number of Underlying Securities. Any fractions of Underlying Securities resulting from any consolidation or subdivision will be retained by the Depository.

(iii) Compulsory acquisition of an Underlying Company

From time to time, an Underlying Company may be the subject of a takeover offer or other offer whereby an acquirer offers to buy some of or all the Underlying Shares.

(a) Offers that allow individual acceptances

If an offer allows shareholders of an Underlying Company to individually accept the offer (e.g. Tender Offer), the Depository may or may not facilitate the event.

If the Depository does not facilitate the event and you want to accept the offer in respect of the Underlying Securities, you can cancel your SDRs, to take delivery of the Underlying Securities, to accept the offer.

(b) Compulsory acquisitions for cash

If the Underlying Securities to which your SDRs relate are the subject of a compulsory acquisition for cash, the Depository will terminate your SDRs and pay you a cash distribution after deducting the relevant corporate action fee.

(c) Compulsory acquisitions in exchange for shares

If an offer involves a compulsory acquisition of Underlying Shares in exchange for the issue of other shares (also referred to as New Underlying Shares), the Depository will deal with the New Underlying Shares in the manner outlined in the sections "Distribute additional SDRs of different Underlying Securities to you" and "Sell the securities and distribute cash to you".

(iv) Rounding of entitlements

SDR distributions made to you will be rounded down to the nearest whole number. Cash distributions arising from liquidation of non-cash distributions will be made to you in Singapore dollars and rounded to the nearest cent.

While the Depository will use reasonable endeavours to pass on the benefits of a corporate action to Holders, there may be differences in the entitlements that you receive compared to the entitlements that you would have received if you held the Underlying NVDRs directly. Only whole SDRs and cents will be made to you and fractions will be retained by the Depository.

(v) Corporate action fee for cash distribution arising from non-cash distributions

The Depository charges fees to process corporate actions. Details of the fees are as follows:

Fee	Amount
Corporate action fee –	Up to 0.25% on gross cash distribution amount.
Cash distributions from	Liquidation expenses, if any, incurred in the selling of liquidation of non-cash	securities received may also be charged

The new NVDRs are a different Underlying NVDR from that of your current holding of 5,000 SDRs, and the new NVDRs do not have an existing SDR programme quoted on the SGX-ST. NVDR holders will receive 1 new NVDR for every 5 NVDRs held on the Record Date;

4. Voting Holders are not eligible to directly exercise voting rights attached to the Underlying Securities. The Depository will also not exercise voting rights in respect of the Underlying Securities on your behalf.

In general, Underlying NVDRs do not carry voting rights, unless otherwise specified by the Thai NVDR.

5. De-quotation and Termination of SDRs

The Depository may terminate SDRs at its discretion. The circumstances in which the Depository may do so include:

(i) the Underlying Securities will cease to be listed on the Underlying Market;

- (ii) there is a change in law or regulation which makes it impractical or uneconomic for the Depository to continue to operate its SDR business;
- (iii) the Depository decides to discontinue SDRs or its SDR business for commercial reasons; or
- (iv) SGX has directed the Depository to terminate the SDRs.

The Depository will notify Holders of its intention to terminate the SDRs via an announcement on SGX. The Depository will provide Holders at least 90 days' notice prior to the de-quotation of SDRs from the SGX-ST, unless this is not practicable.

Generally, the Depository will provide Holders with the following exit options for your SDRs:

- (i) Submit a cancellation request no later than the cut-off date defined by the Depository.
- (ii) Do nothing, in which case the Depository will:
  - Sell the Underlying Securities as soon as practicable after the de-quotation date;
  - Receive sales proceeds from the sale of your Underlying Securities;
  - Deduct any applicable taxes and corporate action fee from the sale proceeds;
  - The remaining sale proceeds will be converted at the Prevailing FX Rate and paid to you in Singapore dollars; and
  - Terminate your SDRs.

You will not need to pay the cancellation fee or corporate action fee if the termination arises from a voluntary termination by the Depository or a termination directed by SGX.

6. Risks associated with SDRs

(i) Overview

An investment in SDRs involves risks. This section focuses on the key risks relating to SDRs and it is not meant to be exhaustive.

You should refer to the SDR programme disclosure document and terms and conditions to understand the structure and its associated risks before investing.

SDRs will not be suitable for you if you do not fully understand the risks involved.

(ii) Price risk

The trading price of SDRs may not reflect the prices of the Underlying Securities or shares adjusted for the foreign currencies to Singapore dollar exchange rate. The trading price of a SDR is expected to be impacted by changes in the price of the Underlying Securities or shares. There is no guarantee as to the price of the Underlying Security. The price of the Underlying Security can be impacted by the performance of the relevant Underlying Company and other factors impacting the markets.

You may not be able to trade SDRs at the time price-sensitive information is released in relation to the Underlying Securities or Underlying Companies and it may be difficult to locate up-to-date information. The Underlying Companies may disclose information to the Underlying Market outside Singapore market trading hours. Such price-sensitive information will only be available on the Underlying Market's website and will not be published on the SGX-ST and may be disclosed in a language other than English. There is also a difference in the trading days and hours of the Underlying Market and the SGX-ST.

It is possible that SDRs continue trading on the SGX-ST even though trading of the Underlying Securities to which the SDRs relate is halted or suspended. While the SGX-ST may stop trading in a series of SDRs if trading in the Underlying Securities to which the SDR relate is halted or suspended, there may be a lag between the time that trading in the Underlying Security is halted or suspended and when trading in the SDRs is stopped.

(iii) Liquidity risk

There is a risk that SDRs may be illiquid. If the SDRs are illiquid, there is a risk that you may not be able to buy or sell your SDRs at a reasonable price or at all, and the price of the SDRs may be volatile and diverge materially from the price of the Underlying Securities.

Trading in SDRs may be stopped by the SGX-ST. There is a risk that the trading of SDRs may be stopped by the SGX-ST at any time. In particular, the SGX-ST may stop trading in a series of SDRs if trading in the Underlying Securities to which the SDRs relate is halted or suspended. Additionally, there may be a time lag between the time trading in the Underlying Securities to which the SDRs relate is halted or suspended and when trading in the SDRs is stopped.

(iv) Underlying Securities Performance Risks

An SDR gives you exposure to the financial performance of the Underlying Securities and the solvency of the Underlying NVDR issuer and the Underlying Companies. The performance of the Underlying Securities is not guaranteed. The Underlying Securities are subject to market risks and other risks inherent in quoted financial instruments.

(v) Risk Arising from Foreign Laws

The Underlying Securities, Underlying NVDR issuer and the Underlying Companies are governed by and subject to foreign laws. The Underlying Companies are not subject to the listing requirements of the SGX-ST and are not subject to the disclosure requirements of the SGX-ST. There is a risk that those laws may be different to Singapore laws and may not offer the same level of investor protection as Singapore laws. SGX-ST does not regulate the NVDRs, Thai NVDR or the Underlying Companies whose securities are represented by the Underlying Securities.

For Thai SDR, the Underlying NVDRs are also subject to investment limits under Thai regulations. There may be changes to the investment limits which may result in a compulsory acquisition of the NVDRs. Proceeds of such compulsory acquisition will be held for the benefit of the SDR Holder.

(vi) Risk Arising from Foreign Tax Laws

Singapore taxation laws, securities laws, and disclosure laws and standards, accounting standards, auditing standards, financial reporting standards and the format of required Singapore company disclosures differ from the laws and practices of the Underlying Market. The difference in laws and standards may affect the quality and comparability of information provided and available to you. Before cancelling your SDRs and having the Underlying Securities to which they relate transferred to you, you should assess how any applicable foreign laws will affect you as a Holder of the Underlying Securities and ensure that you can comply with those foreign laws, including any investment, dealing or holding restrictions. You will be responsible for any costs associated with your failure to comply with any applicable foreign laws.

(vii)Foreign Currency risk

The foreign currencies to Singapore dollar exchange rate will impact the price of SDRs and will impact the value of any distributions you receive. SDRs trade in Singapore dollars and the Underlying Securities trade in a foreign currency. Any amounts distributed to you will have been converted into Singapore dollars after having been received by the Depository in foreign currency. Therefore, the price of SDRs and the value of the distributions you receive will be impacted by changes in the foreign currencies to Singapore dollar exchange rate.

(viii) Risk arising from the terms of the SDRs

When you invest in SDRs, you agree to be bound by the terms of the SDRs and there are certain risks that arise from such terms. This includes, among others, risks relating to the deposits and withdrawals of the SDRs, limitation in participation in the Underlying Securities, termination of the SDRs and amendments of the terms of the SDRs.

If the Depository receives securities on the Underlying Securities, there is no guarantee that the Depository will be able to sell the securities received at the market price or at all. It is also possible that any securities received on the Underlying Securities are non-renounceable, meaning that they are not transferable and cannot be sold. There is a risk that you may not receive the distributions on the Underlying Securities if the Depository is unable to deal in the securities it receives on the Underlying Securities and you will be treated as having waived such rights to distributions.

(ix) Risks relating to Thailand for Thai SDR

The Thai securities market is an emerging market and may be subject to higher price volatility. Companies with assets and operations in Thailand are subject to economic, political, legal and regulatory uncertainties in Thailand. The impact of the social developments and political instability in Thailand is uncertain.

(x) Risks relating to Hong Kong for Hong Kong SDR

Compliance Risk

Part XV of the Securities and Futures Ordinance (Chapter 571 of the Laws of Hong Kong) imposes duties of disclosure of interests in shares by shareholders who are interested in 5% or more of any class of voting shares in a company listed on the SEHK. This is unless such company has been granted a waiver from strict compliance with the relevant requirements. As beneficial owner of the Underlying Shares represented by the SDR, you are obliged to make such disclosure to the Depository notwithstanding that the Depository and/or the Custodian may already have information of your shareholding in the Underlying Company. This is in particular, if you are also holding the Underlying Shares directly (which together with the SDRs, would total 5% or more of the voting shares of the Underlying Company). The Depository and/or the Custodian shall not be liable in any way for your non-compliance of the relevant regulatory requirements and you shall fully indemnify the Depository and/or the Custodian for any such non-compliance. You are also advised to seek advice on your duty of disclosure of your interests in the Underlying Shares under the relevant regulatory requirements in Hong Kong.

Stamp Duty Risk

Hong Kong stamp duty is payable by any person who effects any sale or purchase of Hong Kong stock (defined as stock, the transfer of which is required to be registered in Hong Kong) pursuant to the Stamp Duty Ordinance (Chapter 117 of the Laws of Hong Kong). The Hong Kong stamp duty is presently set at a total rate of 0.2% of the greater of the consideration for, or the value of, stock transferred, with 0.1% payable by each of the buyer and the seller. You may therefore be liable to pay such stamp duty in the event of a deposit of Underlying Shares for issuance of SDR or a surrender/cancellation of SDR and withdrawal of the Underlying Shares when there is a change in beneficial ownership of the Underlying Shares from you to another person and/or vice versa. Such rate of stamp duty may be varied under Hong Kong laws from time to time. You are advised to consult your own tax advisor in respect of your stamp duty obligations.

Dual Class Share Structure Risk

Some Underlying Companies may have a dual class share structure, where its ordinary shares are divided into 2 different classes. Holders of these shares generally have the same rights except that holders of 1 class (e.g. Class X ordinary shares) may be entitled to one vote per share in respect of matters requiring the votes of shareholders, while holders of the other class (e.g. Class Y ordinary shares) may be entitled to ten votes per share. Also, holders of such shares may request conversion of each Class X ordinary share into one Class Y ordinary share at any time but not vice versa (i.e. conversion of each Class Y ordinary share into Class X ordinary share) under any circumstances.

As dual class voting structure gives disproportionate voting power to one class of ordinary shares (e.g. Class Y ordinary shares), holders of such class of ordinary shares will have considerable influence over matters of the Underlying Company such as decisions regarding mergers, consolidations and the sale of all or substantially all of the Underlying Company's assets, election of directors and other significant corporate actions. Such holders may take actions that are not in the best interest of the Underlying Company or other shareholders.

Multiple Listing Venues Risk

The Underlying Company may be concurrently listed on the SEHK and other foreign stock exchange(s) and be subject to the listing and regulatory requirements of different stock exchanges. SEHK and such foreign stock exchange may have different trading hours, trading characteristics (including trading volume and liquidity), trading and listing rules, and investor base (including different levels of retails and institutional participation). As a result of these differences, the trading prices of the Underlying Company's shares on the SEHK and shares on the foreign stock exchange may not be the same, even allowing for currency differences. Fluctuations in the price of the shares on the foreign stock exchange due to circumstances peculiar to the foreign capital markets could materially and adversely affect the price of the shares on the SEHK, or vice versa. Certain events having significant negative impact specifically on the foreign capital markets may result in a decline in the trading price of the shares on the SEHK notwithstanding that such event may not impact the trading prices of shares listed in Hong Kong generally or to the same extent, or vice versa.

Shares traded on the SEHK may not be traded on the foreign stock exchanges without first being converted into the foreign stock. For instance, where a Underlying Company has (i) shares traded on the SEHK and (ii) American Depository Shares ("ADSs") traded on a United States' stock exchange such as the Nasdaq Global Select Market, holders of the Hong Kong shares must first convert the Hong Kong shares into ADSs before he can trade on the Nasdaq Global Select Market. There is generally no direct trading or settlement between SEHK and the foreign stock market on which the Underlying Company's shares are respectively traded. Also, the time differences between Hong Kong and such foreign country, unforeseen market circumstances or other factors may delay the conversion of the Hong Kong shares. You will be prevented from settling or effecting the sale of your shares during such periods of delay. Further, there is no assurance that any conversion of the Hong Kong shares into foreign shares such as ADSs (and vice versa) will be completed in accordance with the timelines that you may anticipate. There may also be fees imposed (including stamp duty, which you are advised to consult your own tax advisor) on such conversion.

Please note that a conversion of the Shares into foreign shares such as ADSs is required before you can trade on the foreign stock exchanges such as the United States' stock exchanges. This will require you to first cancel the SDR and withdraw the Underlying Shares before you can convert the Shares into the foreign shares such as ADSs.

Risks Relating to Overseas Markets in which the Companies are Incorporated or have Operations in Underlying Companies listed on the SEHK are not necessarily incorporated in Hong Kong and hence, not fully subject to the laws of Hong Kong. The Underlying Companies are influenced by the political, economic and social developments in the relevant overseas markets in which they are incorporated or have operations in, which may be uncertain and may increase the risk of investing in the Underlying Shares.

(xi) Risks relating to Indonesia for Indonesia SDR

Compliance Risk

Regulation No. 4 of 2024 on reporting of share ownership and changes in share ownership and reporting of encumbrance of shares in public companies issued by the Indonesian Financial Services Authority on 26 February 2024 and which came into effect on 26 August 2024 imposes duties of disclosure of interests in shares by shareholders who are interested in 5% or more of any class of voting shares in a company listed on the IDX. As beneficial owner of the Shares represented by the SDRs, you are obliged to make such disclosure to the Depository notwithstanding that the Depository and/or the Custodian may already have information of your shareholding in the Company. This is in particular, if you are also holding the Shares directly (which together with the SDRs, would total 5% or more of the voting shares of a Company). The Depository and/or the Custodian shall not be liable in any way for your non-compliance of the relevant regulatory requirements and you shall fully indemnify the Depository and/or the Custodian for any such non-compliance. You are also advised to seek advice on your duty of disclosure of your interests in the Shares under the relevant regulatory requirements in Indonesia.

Tax Risk Arising from Sale of Shares

Article 13(5) of the Schedule to The Income Tax (Singapore – Indonesia) (Avoidance of Double Taxation Agreement) Order 2021 of the Singapore Income Tax Act provides that tax is payable in Indonesia on the gains from the alienation of shares in a company listed on the IDX. Currently, the sale of shares on IDX is subject to a tax of 0.1% of the gross transaction amount.

Also, nominal stamp duty applies on a per document basis in Indonesia, and is not related to the value of the transaction. Stamp duty applies on certain documents made, executed or brought into Indonesia or intended to be used as evidence for civil proceedings. Documents subject to stamp duty include notarial deeds, documents evidencing or recording the receipt of money, and securities instruments. The nominal amount of the Indonesian stamp duty for any kind of securities transaction having a value greater than Rp 5,000,000 is Rp 10,000. Generally, the stamp duty is due at the time the document is executed. Stamp duty is payable by the party who benefits from the executed document unless the parties decide otherwise.

You may therefore be liable to pay such taxes and such rate of taxes may be varied under Indonesia laws from time to time. You are advised to consult your own tax advisor in respect of your tax obligations.

In the event of a surrender/cancellation of SDRs and withdrawal of the underlying Shares when there is a change in beneficial ownership of the Shares from you to another person and/or vice versa, sales tax is payable and such tax is included as part of the cancellation fee set out in the "Fees and Expenses" of the SDR Programme Disclosure Document. For the deposit of underlying Shares for issuance of SDRs, sales tax may be payable. You are advised to consult your own broker on any sales tax obligation accordingly.

Dual Class Share Structure Risk

Some Companies may have a dual class share structure (known in Indonesia as Saham dengan Hak Suara Multipel or "SMVR"), where its ordinary shares are divided into 2 different classes. Holders of these shares generally have the same rights except that holders of 1 class (e.g. Class X ordinary shares) may be entitled to one vote per share in respect of matters requiring the votes of shareholders, while holders of the other class (i.e. SMVR shares) may be entitled to more than one vote per share.

As dual class voting structure gives disproportionate voting power to one class of ordinary shares (i.e. SMVR shares), holders of such class of ordinary shares will have considerable influence over matters of the Company such as decisions regarding mergers, consolidations and the sale of all or substantially all of the Company's assets, election of directors and other significant corporate actions. Such holders may take actions that are not in the best interest of the Company or other shareholders.

Multiple Listing Venues Risk

A Company may be concurrently listed on the IDX and other foreign stock exchange(s) and be subject to the listing and regulatory requirements of different stock exchanges. IDX and such foreign stock exchange may have different trading hours, trading characteristics (including trading volume and liquidity), trading and listing rules, and investor base (including different levels of retails and institutional participation). As a result of these differences, the trading prices of the Company's shares on the IDX and shares on the foreign stock exchange may not be the same, even allowing for currency differences. Fluctuations in the price of the shares on the foreign stock exchange due to circumstances peculiar to the foreign capital markets could materially and adversely affect the price of the shares on the IDX, or vice versa. Certain events having significant negative impact specifically on the foreign capital markets may result in a decline in the trading price of the shares on the IDX notwithstanding that such event may not impact the trading prices of shares listed in Indonesia generally or to the same extent, or vice versa.
